

Digital Product Launch Playbook: 14-Day Step-by-Step System

RenWork Digital Products

Day 1-3: Pre-Launch Setup

Day 1: The Foundation

Before you touch a single pixel of design, you must define your offer. Your product page is not a brochure; it is a sales letter. Start with the Product Page Optimization Checklist. Your title must include the primary keyword and the core benefit (e.g., "Instagram Growth Template Pack: Get 10k Followers in 90 Days"). Next, implement Pricing Psychology. If your product is under $20, use charm pricing ($19.99) to lower perceived pain. If over $50, use round numbers ($49, $99) to signal premium quality. Crucially, establish an anchor. If your product is $40, list a "List Price" of $80 crossed out. This creates immediate value perception.

Day 2: Visuals and Copy

You do not need to be a designer to look professional. Use Mockup Creation for Non-Designers by leveraging Canva's "Digital Product Mockups" section. Place your PDF or ebook cover on a laptop, tablet, or phone screen. This contextualizes the value. For copy, use these three Product Description Formulas:

1. The Problem-Agitation-Solution (PAS): "Struggling to organize your freelance contracts? (Problem) Losing hours every week means lost income (Agitation). This template saves you 10 hours a week (Solution)."
2. The Benefit Stack: List 5 bullet points where each starts with a verb and ends with a tangible result.
3. The "Who This Is For" Filter: Explicitly state who should not buy this. This builds trust by showing you are not a hype merchant.

Finally, handle Platform SEO. On Gumroad/Etsy, use all available tags. Do not use broad tags like "design." Use specific long-tail tags: "notion template for freelancers," "digital planner 2024." Optimize your permalink (URL) to include the main keyword.

Day 4-6: Audience Warm-Up

Day 4: The Teaser

Do not announce the product yet. Use the Teaser Content Formula: "I've been working on something that solves [Specific Pain Point]. It's almost ready. Drop a ? if you want early access." This builds curiosity without spoiling the reveal.

Day 5: Behind-the-Scenes (BTS)

Post a BTS video or carousel showing the process, not the final product. Show your messy notes, your brain-dump, or the raw data. Captions should focus on the struggle and the "aha" moment. This humanizes you and builds anticipation. You are selling your expertise, not just the file.

Day 6: The Waitlist

Set up a simple waitlist page (using Mailchimp, ConvertKit, or even a simple Typeform). Create a Waitlist Page Setup Guide: The headline should be "Get Early Access + Bonus Resource." The bonus must be low-effort for you (e.g., a checklist derived from the main product). This captures emails before launch day, ensuring you have a warm audience to push to.

Day 7-9: Launch Content

Day 7: Launch Day

Send the Launch Day Announcement.

- * Instagram: A reel showing the product in action with the caption: "It's finally here. [Product Name] is live. Link in bio. First 10 buyers get a 20% discount code: LAUNCH20."
- * Email: Subject: "It's time." Body: Short and punchy. "I built this for [Target Audience]. Here is exactly what you get. [Link]."
- * Twitter: "I just launched my new [Product Type]. It helps you [Core Benefit]. If you're tired of [Pain Point], this is for you. ? [Link]"

Day 8: Social Proof Building

How to get your first 5 reviews fast: Contact 5-10 trusted peers or past clients personally. Ask them to buy the product and provide honest feedback in exchange for a free copy or a small gift card. Do not ask for 5-star reviews; ask for honest ones. Specificity wins. "This template saved me 3 hours" is better than "Great product."

Day 9: FAQ and Urgency

Post an FAQ Template addressing the top 3 objections: "Is this beginner friendly?" (Yes/No), "What format is it?" (PDF/Notion), "Is there a refund policy?" (Be clear). Frame your *Limited-Time Offer^{}: "The launch price of $27 ends in 48 hours. After that, it's $47." Scarcity must be real. If you extend it, you lose credibility.

Day 10-12: Sales Push

Day 10: The Urgency Email

Subject: "48 Hours Left."

Body: "The launch discount expires tonight at midnight. If you've been on the fence, this is your sign. Here is one last look at what you're missing: [Highlight Key Feature]. [Link]."

Day 11: Objection Handling

Create a post dedicated to the #1 reason people don't buy. Maybe it's "I don't have time to learn this." Address it directly: "You don't need to be a tech genius. This is plug-and-play. Here is a 30-second video showing how easy it is to set up."

Day 12: Case Study/Results

Share a Case Study Template. Even if it's your own result or a beta tester's, frame it as: "Here is how [Name] went from [Before State] to [After State] using [Product]." Include a screenshot of the result (if appropriate) or a direct quote. This is the strongest sales tool you have.

Day 13-14: Post-Launch

Day 13: Gratitude and Upsell

Send the Buyer Thank-You Email. "Thank you for your support. Here is your download link. By the way, if you liked this, you might also like [Related Lower-Ticket Product]. Here's a 10% code: THANKS10." This is your Upsell Sequence starter.

Day 14: Review and Analytics

Send the Review Request Email: "I'd love to hear how it's working for you. If you have 5 minutes, please leave a review. It helps other [Target Audience] find this tool."

Finally, run your Post-Launch Analytics Checklist:

1. Conversion Rate: If <2%, your offer or copy is weak. If >5%, consider raising prices next time.
2. Traffic Source: Where did the sales come from? Instagram or Email? Double down on that channel next launch.
3. Churn/Refunds: Why did they refund? Product quality or mismatched expectation?

Critical Success Factors

The 3 Mistakes That Kill Launch Momentum

1. Waiting for Perfection: Your product is 80% good enough. Launch it. Iterate post-launch.
2. Ignoring the Email List: Social media reach is volatile. Email is owned. If you don't email, you are renting your audience.
3. Vague Offers: "Get better at design" is a vague offer. "Create 30 scroll-stopping carousels in 1 hour" is a specific offer. Specificity sells.

The One Thing to Do on Day 1

Before you design, write, or code: Validate.

Go to your social media or email list and ask 10 people: "If I built a [Product Type] that solves [Specific Problem], would you pay $[Price] for it?" If less than 3 say "Yes, I'd buy it immediately," do not build it. Fix the offer first. This single step saves you weeks of work on a product no one wants.
