ATS Resume Templates for Tech Roles: Engineer, PM, Data, UX

Template 1: Software Engineer (Mid-to-Senior)

ATS Keyword Strategy: Tech recruiters and ATS algorithms prioritize specific technical stacks. For this template, we cluster keywords by seniority. Junior roles focus on syntax and basic frameworks (e.g., "React," "Python"). Senior roles require architecture and scalability keywords (e.g., "Microservices," "CI/CD," "System Design"). The skills section must not just list tools but categorize them to help the parser map your expertise to specific job requirements.

Section Order for Automated Screening:

1. Contact Info (No graphics, plain text)
2. Professional Summary (3 lines max, keyword-dense)
3. Technical Skills (Categorized: Languages, Frameworks, Cloud, Tools)

5. Open Source Contributions (Critical for credibility)
6. Education

Template 2: Product Manager (Growth & Scale)

ATS Keyword Strategy: PM resumes often fail due to vague language. The ATS looks for evidence of business impact, not just task management. Keywords must bridge the gap between tech and business.

Use terms like "North Star Metric," "Go-to-Market," and "Stakeholder Management." The algorithm favors quantifiable outcomes over duties. If you didn't measure it, the ATS treats it as low value.

Section Order for Automated Screening:

1. Contact Info
2. Career Highlights (Optional but powerful: 3-4 bullet points of biggest wins)
3. Professional Experience
4. Key Projects (If you have specific, high-impact launches)

Say "Analyzed customer segmentation data to identify high-value cohorts, leading to a 10% increase in targeted marketing ROI." Keyword clustering should separate "Analytics Tools" from "Statistical Methods."
