90-Day Growth Planner: Daily Prompts + Weekly Action Templates

This planner is designed to move you from passive wishing to active building. Over the next twelve weeks, we will dismantle old patterns, construct new systems, and integrate these changes into your identity. Do not rush. The value lies in the depth of your reflection and the consistency of your execution. Keep a dedicated notebook or digital document for these entries.

Phase 1: Clarity (Weeks 1-4)

You cannot navigate toward a destination you have not defined. This phase is about excavation. We are stripping away the noise of societal expectations to reveal what actually drives you.

Week 1: The Values Audit

Daily Prompt: Identify one decision you made recently that felt misaligned with your core self. What value was compromised in that moment?

Follow-up: What is the cost of ignoring this value in the long term?

Weekly Template: The Values Hierarchy

- Brainstorm:* List 10 words that describe your ideal life. Do not filter. (e.g., Freedom, Security, Creativity, Status).
- The Hard Choice:* Circle your top three. Now, look at the fourth. Why is it lower than the third? If you had to sacrifice the fourth to protect the third, would you?
- Conflict Check:* Where do your top three values currently conflict in your daily life? (e.g., Health vs. Career).
- Action Statement:* Write one sentence that defines how you will prioritize your #1 value this week.

Week 2: The Vision Map

Daily Prompt: Imagine it is five years from today. Describe your typical Tuesday morning in detail. What are you doing, who is with you, and how do you feel physically?

Follow-up: What evidence do you have today that this vision is possible?

Weekly Template: The Reverse Engineering Map

1. The Destination: Write a one-paragraph snapshot of your life in 5 years (based on yesterday's prompt).
2. The Milestones: What must have happened in Year 4 to make Year 5 possible? List three specific milestones.
3. The Bridge: What must be true in Year 3 to hit those Year 4 milestones?
4. The Anchor: What is one tangible asset or skill you lack right now that prevents you from stepping onto this bridge?

Week 3: The Energy Audit

Daily Prompt: Track your energy levels on a scale of 1-10 for every hour of your day. Note the specific activity occurring during your lowest and highest points.

Follow-up: Are you spending your peak energy on low-impact tasks?

Weekly Template: The Energy Ledger

1. The Drainers: List the top three activities or people that consistently drop your energy to a 1 or 2.
2. The Fuels: List the top three activities that lift you to an 8 or 9.
3. The Swap: Identify one "Drain" you can eliminate or delegate this week.
4. The Injection: Schedule one "Fuel" activity for tomorrow that you have been postponing.

Week 4: The Fear Inventory

Daily Prompt: What is the worst-case scenario if you fail at your primary goal? Write it down without judgment.

Follow-up: What would you do differently if you knew you could not fail?

Weekly Template: The Fear-to-Fuel Conversion

1. The Shadow: Write your deepest fear regarding your growth in a single sentence.
2. The Origin: When did you first feel this fear? What story were you told then?
3. The Reality Check: What is the actual probability of this fear manifesting? (Be honest, not optimistic).
4. The Antidote: Write a counter-narrative. If the fear is "I am not smart enough," write "I have solved difficult problems before, and I am capable of learning."

Phase 2: Action (Weeks 5-8)

Clarity without execution is hallucination. This phase is about building the machinery of your life. We will focus on systematizing your habits and creating feedback loops.

Week 5: Goal Breakdown

Daily Prompt: Identify the single most important task (MIT) for today. Not the most urgent, but the most important. What is the first physical step to start it?

Follow-up: Why did you hesitate to start? What was the internal objection?

Weekly Template: The Goal Decomposition

1. The North Star: State your primary 90-day goal.
2. The 90-Day Outcome: What does success look like at the end of Week 12? Be specific and measurable.
3. The 30-Day Milestone: What must be completed by the end of this month?
4. The Daily Micro-Actions: Break the 30-day milestone into four daily actions that take less than 30 minutes each.

Week 6: Habit Tracker

Daily Prompt: Did you complete your daily micro-action? If no, what was the specific barrier? (e.g., "I was tired," "I forgot," "I didn't want to").

Follow-up: What is the smallest version of this habit you could do to create a win?

Weekly Template: The Habit Architecture

1. The Cue: What specific time or location will trigger this habit?
2. The Routine: What are the exact steps? (Make it stupidly simple).
3. The Reward: What immediate, small reward will you give yourself upon completion?
4. The Tracking: Create a simple 7-day grid. Mark an 'X' only when the habit is completed. No half-credit.

Week 7: Accountability Check

Daily Prompt: Who is the one person you can tell about your progress? Have you told them?

Follow-up: How would their perspective on your progress differ from your own?

Weekly Template: The Social Contract

1. The Partner: Identify an accountability partner (friend, mentor, or coach).
2. The Commitment: Write down exactly what you are committing to for the next 7 days.
3. The Stakes: What is the consequence if you fail to meet this commitment? (e.g., donating $50 to a cause you dislike).

4. The Check-in: Schedule a 10-minute call or message exchange for Sunday.

Week 8: Momentum Review

Daily Prompt: What is one thing you did this week that surprised you with your capability?

Follow-up: How can you replicate that feeling in the coming week?

Weekly Template: The Data Review

1. The Wins: List three things you accomplished. Be specific.
2. The Friction: Where did you struggle? Was it a lack of time, energy, or clarity?
3. The Adjustment: Based on the friction, what is one change you will make to your routine next week?
4. The Celebration: Describe how you will celebrate your progress, regardless of the outcome.

Phase 3: Integration (Weeks 9-12)

You are no longer trying to change; you are becoming. This phase is about making the new normal sustainable and preparing for the next cycle.

Week 9: Identity Shift Reflection

Daily Prompt: How has your self-talk changed since Week 1? Quote a specific thought you had this week that reflects your new identity.

Follow-up: What old identity are you letting go of?

Weekly Template: The Identity Statement

1. The Old Self: Describe the person you were 90 days ago. How did they react to stress? What did they believe about their potential?
2. The New Self: Describe who you are now. How do you handle setbacks? What do you believe about your agency?
3. The Evidence: List three pieces of evidence that prove the New Self is real.
4. The Declaration: Write a first-person affirmation that encapsulates this shift. (e.g., "I am not someone who procrastinates; I am someone who starts.")

Week 10: Environment Design Audit

Daily Prompt: Look at your physical and digital workspace. What object or notification distracts you from your primary goal?

Follow-up: How can you make the right thing easy and the wrong thing hard?

Weekly Template: The Friction Map

1. The Digital Clutter: List three apps or websites you visit that do not serve your goals.
2. The Physical Clutter: Identify one item in your workspace that triggers procrastination or stress.
3. The Friction Addition: Add one step to the process of doing something you want to stop (e.g., unplugging the router).
4. The Friction Reduction: Remove one step from the process of doing something you want to start (e.g., laying out workout clothes the night before).

Week 11: The Gap Analysis

Daily Prompt: Compare your current reality to your Week 2 Vision
