

ATS Resume Templates for Tech Roles: Engineer, PM, Data, UX

RenWork Digital Products

Template 1: Software Engineer (Full Stack / Backend)

### ATS Keyword Strategy

ATS algorithms for engineering roles prioritize specific technical stacks over generic descriptions. For a Mid-to-Senior level role, the system scans for a hierarchy of keywords: Languages (Python, Go, Java), Frameworks (React, Node.js, Django), Infrastructure (AWS, Docker, Kubernetes), and Methodologies (CI/CD, Agile, TDD). Do not use graphics to display skills; use a simple, single-column text list. The "Skills" section must mirror the exact terminology in the job description (e.g., if they ask for "GCP," do not just write "Cloud Computing").

### Section Order

- Header: Name, Phone, Email, LinkedIn, GitHub (No photos, no icons).
- Professional Summary: 2-3 lines highlighting years of experience and core tech stack.
- Technical Skills: Categorized list (Languages, Frameworks, Cloud, Tools).
- Professional Experience: Reverse chronological.
- Open Source & Contributions: Separate from work experience to highlight community involvement.
- Education: Brief.

Template 2: Product Manager (Consumer / B2B SaaS)

### ATS Keyword Strategy

PM resumes often fail because they read like job descriptions rather than performance records.

The

ATS looks for outcomes, not just tasks. Keywords must bridge the gap between tech and business:

Roadmap, Stakeholder Management, A/B Testing, CAC, LTV, Churn, Conversion, Discovery, Delivery,

KPIs, OKRs. Avoid vague terms like "responsible for." Instead, use "Owned," "Launched," or "Drove."

### Section Order

1. Header: Name, Contact, LinkedIn, Portfolio (if applicable).
2. Executive Summary: Value proposition focusing on revenue growth and user retention.
3. Core Competencies: 3-4 columns of relevant skills (e.g., Market Research, Agile Delivery, Data Analysis).

4. Professional Experience: Reverse chronological.

5. Education: MBA or BS.
